

The airways are public property. To have one entity controlling so many stations across the country is contrary to the public good. To use that control to influence an election is reminiscent of the USSR. It is clearly a slippery slope that a democracy must avoid.